ABOUT MYSELF

I'm Nolawit Abera, a fourth-year Architecture student at Unity University, Addis Ababa. I'm passionate about creating spaces that are functional, sustainable and people-centered. My interest in architecture grew from a deep curiosity about how the built environmeтre shapes our daily lives and how it can improve communities, especially in the context of Ethiopia's unique culture, climate and resources.

Throughout my academic journey, I have maintained a 4.0 GPA, consistently achieved A grades, and have been a class representative and peer leader. I enjoy exploring design ideas, working with people, and learning new skills — from sustainable and climate-responsive design to digital tools like 3D modeling and rendering. I am always eager to take on new challenges, grow, and contribute to meaningful projects that create a positive impact.

CERTIFICATE OF APRECIATION TO

Nishan Shewakena & Nolawit Abera

in recognition of being shortlisted as finalists in the Student Design Competition of a cultural pavilion organized by The Embassy of the Kingdom of the Netherlands in collaboration with AEA.

This honor celebrates their creativity, innovation, and dedication to exploring new ideas in design.

First Choice – Vice President:
I want to serve as Vice President to support the leadership team, connect with members, and turn ideas into meaningful action. My experience in student leadership and organizing has prepared me to take on this responsibility.

Second Choice – Executive Secretary:
My second choice is Executive Secretary, where I can use my organizational, communication, and coordination skills to help the team work effectively and stay organized.

I am applying to the Architecture Students Union because I want to be more actively involved in shaping a supportive, creative, and collaborative environment for architecture students. I believe the union can be a space where students share ideas, learn from one another, voice their concerns, and grow both academically and personally. My vision is to contribute through teamwork, creativity, and initiative by helping organize meaningful activities, encouraging student participation, and creating opportunities for students to connect and exchange knowledge. I hope to use this experience not only to develop my own leadership and communication skills, but also to make a positive and lasting contribution to the architecture student community.

THANK YOU !
